U.S. Orders Union Vote At KOLN-TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board announced it has ordered an election among employes of the Cornhusker Television Corp. of Lincoln on a question of union representation.

The firm operates KOLN-TV.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 1221, seeks to be designated as collective bargaining agent. The NLRB directed that the election be held within 30 days of its order, issued last Thursday.

The board said employes constituting a unit appropriate for the purpose of collective bargaining would include those in the programming department. Among them would be regular part-time employes, continuity writers, the farm director and program scheduling employes.

Engineers, sales department employes, office clerical employes, the news director and others would be excluded.

The board said it had directed the election in a larger unit than was requested by the union and said the union might withdraw from the election on notice.

James Ebel, general manager of KOLN-TV said that approximately 30 employes will be involved in the election. He said no date has been set by the NLRB for balloting.

Prosecution Must Begin In County Of Offense Act

Prosecution for an offense must commence in the county in which the offense was committed, even though the parties involved no longer live in that county, the attorney general said Tuesday.

Eugene C. McFadden, county attorney at Norfolk, had requested the opinion, stating his question in terms of the offense of a father's refusal to pay child support. Specifically he wanted to know where action would begin when both the father and his divorced wife had moved out of the county where the divorce was granted and where the father was ordered to pay for the support of the children.

The attorney general's opinion, prepared by Asst. Atty. Gen. Homer L. Kyle, cited both state statute and Supreme Court rulings in similar cases in holding that the county in which the ruling was violated is the county in which the ruling was granted and is, therefore, the county in which action must be brought.

Copper Wire Is Stolen From State Fairgrounds

Theft of approximately 3,000 feet of copper wire from the State Fairgrounds was reported by Fair Secretary Ed Schultz to the Lancaster County sheriff's office.

It was estimated that 15 to 20 poles were climbed to remove the wire. Schultz estimated the loss at $250.

The Fair Board has offered a $50 reward for information leading to the conviction of persons responsible for the theft and for the previous malicious destruction of property in the 4-H Building last week.

Revised Time-Sales Bill Killed

A revised version of a time-sales bill was killed Tuesday in the form of LB 401 by the Banking, Commerce, and Insurance Committee.

The original LB 401 had been killed by the committee, but a revised version replaced the first measure.

Vote on the motion to kill was 4-3. The bill would have allowed purchase of motor vehicles and implements on a time-sale basis. Such a contract is, in effect, a vehicle sale that would include carrying charges on unpaid balances in the original price of the purchase.

Escapes Interest

This, in essence, escapes the terminology of interest as in usual time-purchase agreements.

The possibilty of a new bill being drawn to regulate time-sale purchases was offered by Sen. John Munnelly of Omaha. The bill, he said, was being sponsored by parties opposed to the original LB 401 killed in committee.

Sen. Terry Carpenter, like Munnelly a member of the committee, said he wanted a bill drawn to spell out time-sales contracts. No specific provision in the law deals with such sales, Carpenter said.

An allied bill, LB 573, that would have governed interest rates on all time purchases including automobiles and implements, was killed by the Legislature, 34-6, in session Monday. The bill was heavily opposed by car and implement dealers because of the interest restrictions on such sales.

Sen. Charles Tvrdik, Omaha, who objected to killing the bill, of which he was principal introducer, said a move to have all loan laws studied by a Legislatuve Council committee would leave the state without governing laws for two years.

DRUNK-DRIVE TEST BILL DIES IN HEATED WORDS

An attempt in the Legislature to raise a bill requiring drivers to submit to urine and blood tests was voted down and resulted in a heated exchange of words Tuesday.

The bill, LB 493, was killed Monday 22-14 and the vote repeated in the reconsideration attempt.

Following debate on the bill, Sen. Terry Carpenter and Sen. A. A. Fenske of Sunol engaged in a word exchange on the floor. Carpenter, who made the motion to reconsider, was going to close debate when Sen. Charles Tvrdik asked for a point of "personal privilege" to deliver some final statements.

Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney ruled the debate ended, and Carpenter objected but was ruled out of order. This was after Fenske objected to Carpenter making any additional statements.

Shortly after Carpenter sat down, Fenske jumped to his feet and threatened, "You sit down and you'll be down." Carpenter, no person to back away from a battle, jumped up in Fenske's direction and replied: "You put me down? I don't think you can."

During debate on the measure, Sen. Tvrdik, principal introducer of the bill, told the senators "If you believe in drunken driving, it's all right with me." He was backed by Sen. George Syas who said "We should quit protecting the drunk."

Opposition came from Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala, an attorney, who cautioned the Legislature would he "hasty" in adopting "this law." Sen. John Donner of Elgin sided with McGinley and said the law "gives too much power to a hick-town cop."

Expanding Columbus Industry Toured By Lincoln Businessmen

Lincoln Star Special

COLUMBUS, Neb. — A 10-man delegation of Lincoln businessmen took a day-long tour Tuesday of this city's industrial developments.

The group was told at a welcome reception, presided over by J. O. Peck, Columbus banker and chairman of the industrial committee of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, that the city now has 1,700 persons sharing its annual industrial payroll of $5 million.

Columbus has been expanding at the rate of 150 new homes per year at least until last year, and over the past 12-year period, it has seen a 244 per cent increase in kilowatt demand and 13 new building additions, the Lincoln group was told.

The delegation, accompanied by Columbus businessmen, industrial leaders and Chamber officers, toured the city's residential areas and new industrial site, examining along the way the new public and parochial high schools, both under construction, and the agriculture park.

It visited the Dale Products Plant, manufacturers of precision electronic equipment; the Saunders Archery Target Manufacturing Co.; Becton-Dickinson Co., manufacturers of medical surgery specialty items, and the Behlen Manufacturing Co., manufacturers of corn cribs, power steering equipment and tractor parts.

Home of most new industries in the city is the Columbus Industrial Site, a 90-acre plot east of the city off Highway 30, about a mile from U.S. Highway 81.

The trip, arranged by a special Lincoln Chamber of Commerce committee, was organized to give Lincoln businessmen an opportunity to view the techniques used by a Nebraska community which has enjoyed success in the field of industrial development.

Participating Lincoln businessmen were Phil Assenmacher, John Curtiss, Carl Deitemeyer, Russ Eichelberger, Clark Jeary, Emmett Junge, Robert Metrakos, Jack Morrow, Burnham Yates and Don Stacy.
